I am eager to be your penpal if you are kind and genuine. I don't have the same capability to check out your past as you do mine. Maybe we are all different in that some of us pay with loss of freedom while others lose in other areas, areas not so public, but private. (I have lost in the deepest sense through freedom and love. Example: family being buried without my being there). I have also rejoiced in happiness and in peace. I will have a great appreciation for the person that can see past it all to the heart. (Maybe it takes too much time to say hello these days by mail?)
