Salutations and greetings, may the riches of peace fill your day and evening as I humbly attempt to capture your attention. My hope is to find a pen pal with whom I can experience a genuine friendship. I seek companionship and the enjoyment of someone else's company, and for them to enjoy my company.

I consider myself a fun, loving person, with a sense of humor. Who else is going to help you smile when you need to laugh? My primary focus these days are my studies. I attend the local college and I recently received AA degrees in both Sociology and Addiction Studies. My greatest aspiration is to become a counselor and provide therapy for others in need. I like helping people. I receive great satisfaction from bringing out the best in others; I believe it is the gift the creator blessed me with, from which the world can benefit.

My favorite leisure activities are going to amusement parks, going for walks in a nice park, going out on the town for a good movie, listening to meaningful classic music, and I love romantic settings that involve a good meal. I am a spontaneous and active person who likes making the most of everyday.

I know communicating through snail mail is a lost art, but I do like writing and interacting through words expressed on paper. I hope I can find someone out there who also likes to sit down and write a good old fashioned letter.
